

Dear Families,

Thank you for completing our annual NAEYC Family Survey. Congratulations to the Carroll family, who won the raffle prize of a free day of child care! The survey feedback is valuable to us and helps us reflect on our current practices to make improvements. There is are a couple points we'd like to offer clarification on:

Questions #3 & #7 are related regarding parent/teacher communications about what your child is doing at home and what is important to your family and how we can bring that all together here. You'll notice this week's Parent-Teacher Conferences are another great opportunity to have conversations regarding important factors in your family and how we can help your child grow and learn. Please take advantage of this one-on-one format to have these discussions with your child's teacher. Formal conferences are held twice a year in addition to daily/weekly conversations you have together. On our end, we will also continue to mentor our newer teachers on ways to build relationships and communicate with you. We encourage families to share what is important to you and your family so we can all help your child grow. Working together and providing consistency between Grandma's House and home is a great way to help your child make strides in acquiring new skills and overall development.

Thank you again for your input.
